Maybe there are people who in same way with me but they could not do that and maybe there is who do more than me, but I will try believe me I will with all my hard and whoever loses from they trying I will never given up and who given up is just the miser and I never be like that my great little bigger we are no longer innocent and not guilty, So she is not with us any longer she left us the one who captivated us with her innocence and tenderness has left yes , she left not longer with us and she lefts with us the most beautiful things in here in us, wrote our roots in abbreviated letters as a sigh of her presence among us .

We did not deliberately forget and we did not find away for it ,but it was the airspace that we penetrated our present dimensions without existence, and it like the three stones we put it to rest on them to not falling ,I did not ask you to leave me without holding the tip of my finger so in that way maybe I will remember the past in you which I am not remember it any more ,we could no longer stand to walk and ,and we stopped where there is no way to walk ,and we thirst near the sweetest rivers ,and quenched near the desert of maps ,we cried at the most beau
